

Environmental Policy

JTB Communication Design, Inc. views reducing our environmental impact as a corporate social responsibility and actively works to address it, making it one of management's priority issues. In doing so, we will observe environmental laws and regulations as well as social norms and ethics, and each employee will take the initiative. We will also collaborate with external stakeholders, including customers and business partners, to reduce our environmental impact across our supply chain.

1. Business activities

Across all our activities, we will save resources and energy, reduce waste, avoid hazardous substances, prevent pollution, and implement other environmental actions. We will also actively utilize technologies and services that help conserve the environment to drive our efforts to combat climate change and protect biodiversity.

2. Supply chain collaboration

In conducting our business activities, we will observe environmental laws and regulations as well as social norms and ethics, and collaborate with our stakeholders in procurement activities to reduce our environmental impact across our supply chain.

3. Information disclosure

We will ensure employees have a thorough understanding of this policy. We will also externally disclose the policy on our website and through other media.

4. Education

We will raise environmental awareness among employees through internal training to advance our efforts to combat climate change, circulate resources, and protect biodiversity.

5. Continuous improvement

We will build an environmental management system, set environmental goals, and review them regularly to improve our initiatives.
